This will look a tad different once we have total AI integration

Summary

Key Points:

- Russia's military action against Ukraine demonstrates that it remains a revanchist power, intent on using whatever tools are needed to try to reestablish a perceived sphere of influence despite what its neighbors desire for themselves, and is willing to push back on Washington both locally and locally
- In every region of the world, challenges from climate change, geographic tends, human and health security, and economic disruption caused by energy and food insecurity and technology proliferation will combine and interact in specific and unique ways to trigger events ranging from political inability, to terrorist threats, to mass migration, and potential humanitarian emergencies
- In the Western Hemisphere, Moscow will seek to maintain its influence by continuing its diplomatic overtures and economic engagements mostly with the countries that it sees as key players or close partners, including Argentina, Brazil, Cuba, Nicaragua, and Venezuela
- Moscow retains the ability to deploy naval, long- range bomber, and small general purpose air and ground forces locally, and Manner and other private security companies maintain a presence in areas such as the Central African Republic and Ali
- Iran has threatened to target former and current U.S officials as retaliation for the killing of Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps-Rods Force (IRGC-of) Commander Cases Soleimani in January 2020, and has previously attempted to conduct lethal operations in the United States
- Iran continues to message that it would return to full compliance if the United States provided sanction relief and fulfilled its JCPOA commitment, and if the IAEA closed its safeguards investigations related to three declared nuclear sites.
- North Koreas military will pose a serious threat to the United States and its allies by continuing to invest in nice capabilities designed to provide Him with a range of option to deter outside intervention, offset enduring deficiencies in the country's conventional forces, and advance his political objectives through coercion.
- Geopolitical tension between countries about how to accelerate reductions in greenhouse gas missions are likely to grow, and states will compete to try to control resources and dominate the new technologies needed for a global transition to low-carbon energy.
- During the next year, anaemic-related higher debt burdens, constrained government spending, and going employment disruption and insecurity are expected to height the risk of financial inability and poverty, particularly in low-income countries and those recovering from the most severe economic effects of COVID-19
- Rivers for disease emergence persist and are on the rise, including climate change, deforestation, human encroachment into previously undisturbed habitat, wildlife
